

Introduction to Sandplay Therapy with Leslie Johannes, MEd, LMFT, CST-T

Also Featuring,

Building Symbols of Attachment in Sandplay: a Child's Sandplay Process

Please join in on a day with Dora Kalff's Sandplay Therapy. You will learn the origins of sandplay, Dora Kalff's gifted ways of working with children as well as adults, and how Sandplay can be used to great effect in work with those who've experienced developmental trauma or interrupted attachment in their families of origin. This class will include (but won't be limited to):

- Kalfian theory and practice of Sandplay Therapy, based on Jungian Analytical Psychology
- How to get started – basic supplies, introducing clients to sandplay, and how to determine the needed focus of treatment from an initial tray
- Ways to “read” the symbolic language of sandplay; the importance of symbols, including those in myths, fairy tales, cultural traditions and religion; and how the therapist continues to develop a “symbolic attitude” in the work of Sandplay Therapy
- Stages and themes in a sandplay process as seen in the case material of a young adult female and a 9–11 year old child, both subjected to ongoing experiences of harsh parenting during childhood
