

Disclosure Statement

Education

- Bachelor of Arts degree – University of Washington, Seattle; focus on early childhood development and education
- Master of Arts degree in Education – Seattle Pacific University, Seattle
- Post-graduate MFT training and certification, including 2 years intensive clinical training and supervision – COAMFTE Training Program at Presbyterian Counseling Services, Seattle
- Post-graduate training in Jungian Analytical Psychology – North Pacific Institute of Analytical Psychology, Seminars for Professionals, Seattle
- Post-graduate consultation/training in Jungian dream analysis with Eberhard Riedel, PhD, DCSW, Jungian Analyst
- Post-graduate training in Sandplay Therapy -- Sandplay Therapists of America (STA) and ISST, Greater Seattle, California and Switzerland
- Post-graduate training in the Psychobiological Approach to Couples Therapy with Stan Tatkin, Psy D
- AAMFT approved supervisor training at Seattle Pacific University, Seattle

Professional Memberships, Credentials and Licenses

- Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist (LMFT), Washington State License number LF00000914
- Clinical Fellow American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT)
- Founding Member of Family Systems Therapists Northwest (FSTNW)
- Certified Sandplay Therapist and Teacher (CST-T)
- Clinical Teaching member Sandplay Therapists of America (STA) and International Society for Sandplay Therapy (ISST)
- Sandplay Therapy Institute (STI) team member, planning, promoting, and implementing program and curriculum 2016 – 2019
- Sandplay Therapists of America (STA) Exceptions Committee member
- Co-founder of Northwest Sandplay Therapists (NWST)
- Member Jungian Psychotherapists Association (JPA)
- AAMFT Approved Supervisor

Experience

- Elementary school teacher, including curriculum development and instrumentation – Lake Washington School District, Redmond
- Tutor and Educational Consultant in private practice, Bellevue
- Marriage and Family Therapist – low income clinic at Presbyterian Counseling Services, Seattle
- Family, individual and child therapist at Youth Eastside Services, Bellevue
- Family, couple, individual and child therapist in private practice since 1997, Bellevue
- Guest presenter for the Mother’s Circle retreat, sponsored by Kindering Center (a birth-3 center)
- Presenter at the STA/ISST sponsored Sandplay in Switzerland Intensive, 2007
- Presenter at the Northwest Sandplay Therapists Gathering, 2007
- Presenter at the Sandplay Therapists of America National Conferences 2008 and 2014
- Guest presenter -- Sandplay Therapy and Working with Children – for the Marriage and Family Therapy graduate training program at Seattle Pacific University, Seattle, 2008
- Presenter – Weekend Intensive Sandplay Therapy in the Treatment of Children and their Families
- Presenter of Workshops on Sandplay Therapy and Attachment, Trauma, Life Transitions, etc.
- Facilitator of monthly online Sandplay Therapy consultation groups for professionals 2015-present
- Partner in marriage for 50+ years and in parenting for 35+ years

Therapeutic Approach

My therapeutic approach is informed by a number of theories and models practiced in the field, including, but not limited to: 1) family systems therapy, 2) Jungian Analytical Psychology – dream work, work with complex energies that remain mostly unconscious, and sandplay therapy – 3) internal family systems, narrative, and cognitive-behavioral therapies. My work with you emphasizes a collaborative model (becoming more directive only as need may arise) that supports and guides you in:

- a) becoming more aware of dynamics at play in your life that may be causing you emotional pain, and
- b) developing ways of influencing those dynamics as to create a working relationship with them, thus

c) moving you toward more empowering outcomes.

Statement of Philosophy

My primary orientation is developmental and integrates Jungian analytical psychology and family systems theories, taking into account the family life cycle and the transitions being made by both you and your family system within that cycle. I operate from the assumption that you are both a product of and an important influence in your family and relationship networks. Since patterns of relating are often replicated throughout our lives, your therapy may make use of this natural repetition to point the way to resources and experiences you might access to alter undesirable patterns and powerfully impact your life in ways that are of most concern to you. I consider the strengthening of a person's sense of self to be integral to the strengthening of the relationships in which you participate. I view my role as therapist to be one of supporting, guiding, mentoring, coaching and respectfully challenging you throughout your process of growth, development and change in a protected space where you may freely explore the issues you've identified, in collaboration with your therapist, as being the focus of your therapeutic endeavors.

If you participate in the spiritual dimension of life, I invite you to incorporate your beliefs or issues generated by these beliefs in your therapeutic process.

If at any time you have questions about what you've understood me to say, concerns about my methods or any other aspect of your therapy, it is important to your process that you find a way to discuss them with me. Such inquiries, and the conversations they may inspire, are integral to a meaningful development toward your therapeutic goals and potentially pivotal in the growth process. In addition, you may decide that you'd like to continue your work with another therapist or to conclude treatment in my practice, and it is understood that these decisions are yours to make.

Information provided by the State of Washington

The state of Washington has employed the Counselor Credentialing Act, the purpose of which is to provide protection for the public health and safety and to empower the citizens of the state of Washington by providing a complaint process against those counselors who would commit acts of unprofessional conduct.

Counselors practicing for a fee must be licensed with the Department of Health for the protection of the public health and safety. Registration [as opposed to licensure] of an individual with the department does not include recognition of any practice standards, nor necessarily implies the effectiveness of any treatment.